We know that playing is a serious business. Although not as much as you do, we still feel the urge to play. That's why we designed TAHTOY blocks with great thought. We took pen and paper in our hands and we travelled back to days when playing was our only job. We looked through your eyes and imagined with your hands. Because we wanted you to be free during play.

We know when you setup your own game and set your own rules today, you will be independent and select your own path in life in future. Things that you collect from the lands where your imagination takes you will accompany you all your life. Your self-confidence will be strengthened when you design dozens of characters constantly transforming into eachother. You will see there isn't only one solution to something so that you will be able to approach problems in various ways in future.

TAHTOY is an open-ended toy. Everyone can create their own unique characters. TAHTOY wooden blocks have endless design possibilities opening the gates of an adventurous world! It is a timeless, genderless and an unguided toy that will be handed down to the future masters of play.
